HOAGLAND'S
NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. E. COOPER
HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive
Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.
He respectfully refers to the following
CARD.
Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling invented by H. R. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the [illegible] that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.
It fastens without bolt or screw, and is therefore easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.
It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use, and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent, heretofore considered the best in use.

OTTAWA, Canada, May 11.—The Manitoba bill passed the House of Commons last night.

Washington News in General.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—The Committee on Reconstruction to-day considered the Georgia bill and proposed to report to the House the bill originally introduced there, which is similar to the bill admitting Virginia, with an amendment providing for the employment of militia or regular military forces in cases of necessity for the preservation of peace and the enforcement of the laws. The amendment, as in the Senate substitute, instead of fixing the time of election for members of the Legislature, leaves the question of the term of office to judicial direction. No definite conclusion will be reached before Thursday.

The President has nominated G. A. Batchelor for Secretary of Dakotah Territory; Lewis C. Rockwell, Attorney for Colorado; W. H. West, of Ohio, Consul at Rio Janeiro.

A joint canvass of the Republican members of Congress is to be held next Monday. The call under which the meeting is to be held simply sets forth the general necessity of appointing a Congressional Committee for the next fall election and canvass and especially providing for the campaign in the South. It is spoken of by some as a very absurd thing to suppose that an attempt will be made to settle the tariff issue or any other important legislative questions in this caucus, about which there has been so much sensational talk on all side.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The Reconstruction Committee took up a number of propositions in the Georgia case, but the discussion indicated that Butler's bill will probably be accepted.

The passage of Wilson's army bill does not appear to be certain. The Southern Senators in debate yesterday attacked the section reducing the force, and there were several objections to any compulsory reduction of a number of officers on the ground that death, resignations and dismissal on account of incompetence would accomplish this in another year.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The Superintendent of the Coast Survey has asked for $50,000 for the survey of Alaska.

The Grand Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic commences its annual session to-day. Gen. Logan in his address denied that the organization was political.

LOUISVILLE, May 10.—The Southern Baptist Convention to-day unanimously sustained the report of the Committee on Co-operation with the Northern Baptists—adverse to co-operation. The Convention adjourned until the next meeting at St. Louis.

Democratic Tactics.

WHAT SENATOR SAULSBURY THINKS ABOUT THE NIGGER VOTE.

A Kent county correspondent of the Wilmington (Del.) Commercial writes as follows:

About six weeks ago, when it became apparent that the Fifteenth amendment was sure to be adopted, a committee of Democrats went on to Washington, for the purpose of consulting with Senator Saulsbury as to the best course to be pursued by their party in order to secure a portion of the colored vote. On visiting the Senator at his rooms they found him to speak plainly, far from sober. They stated, however, the object of their visit to be a desire to consult him as to the best policy of the party in view of the adoption of the Fifteenth amendment, in order to win a portion of the colored vote.

The Senator heard them attentively, and when through bluntly replied:

"We can't get the nigger vote. The time between this and the election is too short to pull the wool over their eyes. They have got just as much sense about voting as you and I have, and it's no use talking. I've lived among them all my life—was raised with them—and used to own 'em, and I tell you they have got too much sense to vote with us next fall. They won't do it."

At these awful words the committee, who had been growing by degrees paler and paler, turning from the ruby red of corn whisky to the mud color of their native swamps, fairly dropped their elongated jaws upon their breasts.

"But," they said, "what shall we do? The Rascals will hold the power with all the niggers voting, and they'll elect all their officers. Good Lord! What will become of our places that we now have, and those we want? The black Republicans will wipe us out like a candle snuff. Where'll be our Representatives, and our Senator, and our Legislature and our Governor and—"

Here the Senator cut in:

"The h— they will! You fellows ain't got sense enough to set up a campaign. You'd better go home. I'll tell you what to do—go home and holler 'White Man's Party.' That's our bolt. There's enough thick-headed, ignorant white men who vote the Republican ticket that we can get to vote ours, and we can beat 'em yet. Go home, boys, and set up a howl—'White Man's Party,' 'White Man's Party,' 'White Man's Party.' Then in two years, when we have another election [illegible]."

During this address the drooping committee had revived somewhat, but still they seemed a trifle doubtful.

"Don't be alarmed," said Willard. "Go home. I run the Democratic party in Delaware myself. It's my machine, and as soon as Congress adjourns I'll be home, and start up the banks of the Brandywine, and run her clear down to Baltimore [illegible] Just you mind if I don't make the axe grease smoke. Come, let's take something."

The committee had now regained color. They took something. The [illegible] rose. They shook the Spartan Senator [illegible] and departed, while, as they turned away, Willard shouted [illegible] he closed [illegible]

"[illegible] White Man's Party [illegible]"

It is a long time since we have heard much of the Lower California Company, which obtained from Mexico a contract for the [illegible] forty-six thousand eight hundred square miles in that peninsula, and now the company is actively engaged in preparing an extensive expedition with the view of settling two of its provinces with American emigrants and establishing a large ocean city. It is claimed that the company is armed with powers equal to those enjoyed by the great East India Company, which founded an empire. Its Superintendent and Governor General is the Hon. John A. Logan, who has declared his intention of visiting the province, and giving it close personal inspection during the recess of Congress. The President of the company, the head quarters of which is at No. 35 William street, New York, is Richard Schell; Wm. R. Travers is the Treasurer. Following which, we find the names of Gen. B. F. The Commercial Herald has the following in regard to the Oregon Willow Creek mines: "The irrepressible energy of our prospecting miners has again been rewarded by their discoveries at the Willow Creek mines, about which very little is known outside of the district itself. The mines are located in Oregon, 170 miles in a southerly direction from Umatilla. They are placer diggings, about ten miles long by six miles wide. The gold obtained is coarse and sells on the spot for $16 to the ounce. Four hundred miners wintered there last season, and the number is rapidly increasing. The wages paid for labor at these mines is from $6 to $10 per day, and owing to the great depth of snow the past winter, water has been and continues to be quite abundant. A large ditch is being constructed to lead in the waters of Burnt river which when completed will give a sufficient and unfailing supply of natural water. Umatilla is the shipping point for supplies required at the mines and the cheapest, as well as the shortest route is by steamer from this city to Portland, thence by river steamer to Umatilla, and thence by stage to the mines. It takes four days to go from here to Portland, one from Portland to Umatilla, and two from Umatilla to Willow Creek. The price of passage from here to Portland is $36 in the cabin, and $20 in the steerage. The principal mining camp is called El Dorado. Trade with that section has increased largely and promises to be very considerable as well as lucrative. Fine agricultural lands exist all along the route between Umatilla and the mines, and farmers so favorably located could find a ready and well sustained demand for their cereal and horticultural products among the large body of men engaged in the diggings. Several good quartz leads are reported to have been discovered in the neighborhood, and one is being worked with fair success. No doubt others exist, and it is possible that some very rich lodes may be discovered. The traffic between Umatilla and Willow Creek is carried on by teams and pack trains."

The German Constitution of 1849.

[From the North German Correspondent.]

When in the spring of 1849 the German National Assembly was compelled to leave Frankfort, the original draft of the Constitution of the 28th March remained in the hands of Dr. Jucho, who had been the referendary of the Parliament. He wished to place it in the keeping of the Senate of Frankfort, but that body refused to receive the charge. On the restoration of the old Diet it demanded the document, and Dr. Jucho was subjected to various vexatious prosecutions. The paper in question, however, had been safely deposited in England, where it remained till 1866. Dr. Jucho has now forwarded it to the North German Reichstag with a letter in which, after summing up the history of the document, he says:

"It must not remain in my hands, as I am only a private person, and I am beyond doubt acting according to the spirit of my instructions, and doing my best to secure the safety of what was intrusted to my care by placing it in the keeping of the Reichstag of the North German Confederation, which, if not the successor of the German National Assembly, is, beyond doubt, the legal representative of by far the greater part of the German people."

Dr. Simson, the President of the North German Reichstag, replied in a letter accepting the charge and thanking Dr. Jucho in the name of the House for sending the MS.

The Frankfurter Zeitung, in commenting on the above facts, calls Dr. Jucho a "lost son." In reply that gentleman says: "It has always been my endeavor to act as a son—and a faithful son—of my country; but I have never acknowledged the unpatriotic Democracy of the Frankfurter Zeitung as my mother. I felt like a lost son during the period of the old Diet, but since its end—since the successes of 1866—I have once more found a home. Yes, the 'successes,' says the Frankfurter Zeitung: Dr. Jucho has loudly and eagerly applauded them. Against this I must protest. I openly expressed my Prussian sympathies long before Prussia was successful, at a time when the daily denunciations of the press made it almost dangerous to do so." The writer adds his own life has been a proof that he has been inclined to attach only too small an importance to success and continues: "Now it is easy and safe enough to play the Democrat of the reddest shade and daily to paint the revolution on the wall. Indeed, the leadership of a radical party in clubs and the press has become almost a trade, a means of earning a livelihood."

General Howard.

Washington (Ap. 1 [illegible]) correspondence [illegible] Commercial.]

While the Agricultural Bureau floats on in its incapacity, a Committee is engaged in investigating the conduct of General Howard. Fernando Wood [illegible] with a spasm of virtue, for which he is to be congratulated, and not only prefers charges, but gives himself up to their prosecution.

General Howard, from his earliest life to the present moment, has held the confidence of his associates, and friends and enemies have united in pronouncing him the soul of honor. He has made himself obnoxious to many by his peculiar political views, and to a few through his religious belief, and it is not to be wondered at that sooner or later an attempt would be made to limit his usefulness and blacken his fair name. And under the action of a nervous temperament and the promptings of a kind heart he may have done some things that in their irregularity open the door to his foes. In the battles of this life the pure hearted and impulsive enter the arena almost unarmed in their very goodness. Base friends and smooth enemies find in such an easy prey. As Sterne says, "when a saint [illegible] be [illegible] it is easy enough to find in the nearest hedge sticks for the flering."

While Howard is one of the purest and least [illegible] he is confiding and unsuspecting as a child, and as such has been surrounded by base men who under the guise of friendship and the cloak of religion have sought to use and abuse him. I have no question but that the inquiry will fetch out any quantity of wrong for which Howard will be held responsible.

Be that as it may, there is one caution the press and the public may as well receive, and that is that the prosecution must end before the defense can be heard, and the industrious and cunning enemies will be telegraphing and writing to the world all that can be said to [illegible] injury. While I am satisfied that he will come out of the trial justified in every act, I know the manner in which men are condemned in all ages, and public opinion manufactured before the truth can be heard.

Howard University at Washington, designed for the education of colored persons, both male and female, is now in a prosperous condition. There are about 20 students, and additional buildings are being erected to accommodate those unable to obtain admittance at present.

A [illegible] Democratic Argument

[illegible] after [illegible] to carry [illegible] pass [illegible] that power was [illegible] be pledges were [illegible] the subsequent [illegible] were disclosed [illegible] humbug the people [illegible]

Here indeed are learning and [illegible] ship. It has [illegible] again that the Burlingame treaty gave the Chinese no rights [illegible] immigrat[illegible] lence in this country which they did not possess before that treaty was [illegible] The ratification of that treaty took away from the States no power to stop the immigration of Chinese, both for the above reason and also for the greater reason that this is a power that California or no other State ever possessed. No State is permitted to enact any law to regulate or restrict immigration for the reason that this is a power which belongs exclusively to the General Government. It is an incident of the power to regulate commerce, which the Constitution expressly gives to Congress. The Supreme Court has held this in repeated instances, and no one who has any knowledge of the powers of the Government, as interpreted by the highest judicial authority of the country, would assert that any one of our States ever had the right to pass laws to prevent the immigration of the people of any other nation. The assertion, therefore, that the ratification of the Burlingame treaty took away from the States a right which they possessed prior to that time, is supremely absurd and ridiculous. That this was not the reason why the California Democrats failed to redeem their pledge to put a stop to Chinese immigration is provable by still another conclusive argument. The Legislature of California in 1861 attempted to resist the immigration of Chinese. A heavy tax was laid upon them, which it was believed would prohibit any more of them coming and expel from the State those already there. A case was made up and taken to the Supreme Court of the United States (see Lin Sing vs Washburn 20 Cal), which pronounced this attempt on the part of the State to prevent the immigration of Chinese to be in conflict with the National Constitution, and therefore void. The Supreme Court that rendered this judgment was Democratic. So it will be seen that long before the Burlingame treaty was ever heard of it was decided by the Democratic Supreme Court of California that the State had no power to exclude Chinese. Yet the Herald, with that profound knowledge which has always distinguished it, declares that, "had the State been left to regulate its own affairs, laws would have been passed to effectually deter Chinese immigrants." There is a great deal of first class wisdom and sound learning in the Democratic party! It is to be observed that Mr Grover is trying to be elected Governor hammering on this Chinese gong, and the above extract from his leading organ is an average illustration of his efforts.

Another Dilemma.

As it is now certain that we are to have a west side railroad and that it is to be built speedily, let us see if the Herald will continue to sneer at the enterprise, to decry its importance, and to throw obstacles to the extent of its feeble ability, in the way of its construction. It has said that the effort that has been making to revive this west side enterprise is a humbug, that it is a "bobtail boomerang affair" that will be injurious to Portland and of no value to the surrounding country, and that those who are at the bottom of it never intended that anything should come of it. But we have seen that a land grant of great value has been secured as a basis of credit for building the road, and Mr Gaston, President of the Company, telegraphs that iron and rolling stock have been purchased for the first twenty miles. It is clear that the representatives of the enterprise are working with energy and in good faith to carry it forward, and there can be no doubt of their success. It was asserted at first that Senator Williams was acting with duplicity in the matter and that it was his purpose to prevent the passage of the bill granting lands for the road. This slander was refuted by the prompt passage of the bill—a result which was secured directly through the agency of Judge Williams. Then insinuations were thrown out that the representative men of the company had "sold out" the interests of the people. This is refuted, as promptly, by their action in securing at the East materials for the construction of the road. Will the Herald continue in its course of opposition to the enterprise? Actuated by political rancor and partisan malice will it persist in fighting the interests of the people on the west side of the valley? Or will it now back down from its position on this subject as it has been forced to do from its position on repudiation?

A Humbug Exploded

Of course it is the right of the managers of the manufacturing establishment at Salem to employ Chinese if they want to. Under ordinary circumstances it would be impertinent for any person unconnected with the company to have anything to say about it. All persons have a right to manage their own business affairs in their own way and are generally averse to tolerating anything like interference. We should have said nothing about the kind of labor which the Salem company employs or proposes to employ, nor should we have alluded in any way to the management of the establishment had not the agent of the company, who is also one of the principal owners in it, set out on a perambulating tour over the State to talk about the iniquity of Chinese labor, hoping to be elected Governor by riding this miserable hobby. Under these circumstances it becomes proper for us to speak about the matter, and to show that Mr Grover in attempting to make the canvass turn on this Chinese labor question, so called, is propagating a sham and a humbug. It is clear enough that the question of employing Chinese in the Salem establishment has been under consideration, and it is useless for Mr Grover to attempt to deny it. Now let him stop talking against Republicans on this subject and nobody will meddle with his manufacturing establishment, or care what kind of labor he employs in it. His own action in the case shows that this is not a political question, and that he knows he is devoting himself to the advocacy of the poorest kind of a hobby.

The Constitution and Sectarian Legislation

We find in the Washington [illegible] ing some [illegible] on this subject. That paper truly observes that the purpose of our fathers who founded the Republic is plainer than that there should be no union in this country between church and State. They had seen and felt the evils of such a system in the Old World. The Pilgrims of Plymouth, the Quakers of Pennsylvania, the Catholics of Maryland and the Huguenots of Carolina had fled from their native homes to escape the disabilities and persecutions which State religion had placed upon them. When their [illegible] entered upon the duty of framing a Government for a new nation they were by no means disposed to perpetuate the [illegible] evil. Hence it happened that the first constitutional amendment proposed by the first Congress provided distinctly against an Established Church. It declared that "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof."

The principle of this constitutional provision is cheerfully accepted by all denominations in this country. It is conceded that religion should be practiced and maintained by the free will of the people without compulsory tithes and taxes.

Under this system religion has flourished and prevailed to a greater extent than in any country where its support is obligatory by law. Contributions for building churches, supporting ministers and endowing seminaries of learning have been largely and cheerfully made. The people have constantly seen and felt the benefits of the voluntary system.

There have recently, however, arisen some innovations which look toward interference with the workings of a system which has hitherto worked so smoothly. In New York city, in St. Louis and elsewhere, there have been demands made upon the Legislatures for State aid to denominational schools. As those who have asked for this favor have had influence over a large voting population the politicians have in some cases yielded to the demand.

It cannot be doubted that such transactions are but the entering to larger and more dangerous demands of a similar nature. If one sect may receive legislative aid for its schools, others who have equal claims will demand similar recognition. If States continue to do such acts of charity or benevolence, their Legislatures will be wrought upon by an increasing pressure, which they will constantly become less able to resist. Hence it is that we need some measure that will take such matters entirely out of the domain of legislation. But how to do it is the question. Some propose a constitutional amendment. The public mind is not yet sufficiently awakened on the subject to demand such a remedy, but the tendency of the times clearly indicates that the subject is one that will present itself more prominently ere very long.

Editorial Notes

We are told by the Democratic organ that the substituted or succedaneous candidate of that party for State Senator has never wavered from the faith, but has stood by the colors through good and bad repute. Most of the time, we suppose, through bad repute, since his party has been in that unenviable condition now for a good many years.

We are sorry to hear that a few Republicans of Vancouver have bolted a part of the county ticket and are engaged in getting up an independent ticket. We understand that the principal objection is to Mr Aug A Schaeben, regular candidate for Auditor. From a personal acquaintance with Mr Schaeben, we believe him to be a competent man for the position and that he would make a good officer. Our friends over there would do far better if they would unite in making battle against the common enemy, rather than in creating a division in their favor.

The Salem factory company, whose agent is Mr Grover, didn't succeed in obtaining Chinese labor because the Chinamen were afraid of receiving violent treatment in case they should go to Salem. But the company was equal to the emergency. The next step was to reduce the pay of the white operatives. The company is full of resources. After the election Chinese will no doubt be obtained, in case the company can give them positive assurance that they will not be harmed.

On Wednesday night at Oregon City Gov Woods proved by two witnesses, Messrs E Jacob and W C Johnson, that Mr W P Doland of this city had told them some time ago that the Salem factory company were attempting to make negotiations through him with the Chinese here to get Chinese operatives for that Salem establishment. This disturbed Mr Grover greatly, so much so that he came down here, as we learn, in the middle of the night to see what could be done about it. All the capital he had for the campaign was destroyed. We regret exceedingly to hear of his losing sleep about this "Chinese question."

The other night Gov Woods in the course of his speech stated that the Salem factory company had been proposing to employ Chinese in their establishment. Mr Grover jumped up excitedly and denied it. We have already given authority sufficient to substantiate the statement. Further on in his speech Gov Woods stated that Mr Grover, the whole burden of whose speeches was a tirade against Chinese, had one at that moment employed in his kitchen. "Now," said Gov Woods, "let Mr Grover jump up and deny that." But Mr Grover didn't do it. He likes Chinese cookery and has no notion of going back on the gentle Celestial who ministers to his palate.

The "White Man's Party"

The [illegible] of the Democrats of Virginia City, Nevada, in giving their united support to a colored man for Mayor in the late municipal election, is thus commented on by the Enterprise of that city:

The zeal of the Democratic party was manifested mainly in favor of Bird for Mayor, and the number of votes cast for him fairly represents the [illegible] registered strength of that organization. Bird is a colored man who claims political fellowship with the Democratic party. He is not popular [illegible] and probably [illegible] not receive [illegible] the exception of his own ballot, the vote of a single colored elector in the city. It is a pleasure for us [illegible] announce that the colored men voted the straight Republican ticket. We do not think Bird received more than a dozen Republican votes, and the most of these were doubtless cast by mistake. This [illegible] almost enthusiastic support of a colored man for a responsible office by the Democratic party is to us a cheering evidence of progress in that organization. It shows that, whatever may be the attitude of the leaders of the party in Eastern Nevada, the Democrats of Storey county have placed the traditional prejudices of the party under their feet and made a bold bid for the colored vote. It will probably be assumed by some that the Democratic support of Bird was a joke, but it was no such thing. Democrats voted for him because he was a Democrat and because the party in this end of the State has become "reconstructed." It is gratifying to note this substantial effect of our long years of political toil.

Pleasant Day.—There was a moderate shower of rain fell yesterday, but after all it was a very pleasant day—not to be sneezed at.

Mr Johnson's Speech

Mr J W Johnson made a speech at the Court House last evening from an [illegible] Democratic [illegible] He was a delegate [illegible] to the Democratic Convention at Albany, and contended in that body against the repudiation [illegible] 8th resolution. The bed rock Democracy had [illegible] succeeded there in placing in their platform a [illegible] table [illegible] position in regard to the settling [illegible] the national debt. Mr Johnson refused to be bound by the action of the Convention, and believing that all honorable and right thinking men of the Democratic party would stand with him on this proposition he has set out to defeat the faction which controlled the Democratic Convention, as the only means of preserving the party from utter ruin.

Of his speech last evening we have not time now to say as much as we should like to say. He set out by showing that there are four distinct party elements in the United States, the radical and conservative elements of the Republican party and corresponding elements in the Democratic party. The radical elements are widely asunder but the conservative elements occupy nearly common ground. He illustrated this by comparing the Republican State platform of this year with that of the Democratic party two years ago, rather ingeniously showing that upon vital points they were quite alike. He believed the Democratic platform of two years ago better expressed the Democratic sentiment of Oregon than that of this year adopted at Albany. His conclusion from this was of course that Democrats who are not repudiators could more naturally and [illegible] vote the Republican than the Democratic ticket.

On the Chinese question, upon which he talked at some length, he believed that it is the proper American policy to obtain the Chinese trade, that the Pacific coast is particularly interested in securing it not only because it is now our principal foreign market but because the trade is one which is destined to greatly enrich us. Attending this trade he could see but one danger—that of a too great influx of Chinese and the possibility of their being admitted to citizenship. The true policy should be to retain the word "white" as it now stands in our naturalization laws, and thus hold the Chinese immigrants upon the footing of aliens. On this policy he could not see that there was any disagreement among the people of the Pacific coast nor among the conservative men of all parties in the United States. They are all opposed to the naturalization of Chinamen. There are but a few radical men who manifest any purpose or desire to change our naturalization laws. He believed that just at present a Republican Congressman, opposed to Chinese citizenship, would be more potent in Congress to prevent such change than any Democrat, and especially more so than any man elected upon a repudiation platform. After taking a full survey of the whole situation and seeing that the people of the Pacific coast are all right upon this question he could not see that there is any real danger to be apprehended from the Chinese problem. He thought the great outcry from Democrats in this campaign upon this Chinese question a mere piece of demagoguery.

Mr Johnson treated the repudiation question in a very clear and forcible manner, showing how and why the 8th resolution came to be a part of the Albany platform, how it was that the Democrats had no responsibility for it, and that they are not therefore bound by any party ties to support it. He went through Mr Slater's original repudiation 45 cents on the dollar position, showing that Mr Slater's first exposition of the 8th resolution was the correct one and that his later positions are mere policy dodges, adopted after finding that repudiation without a sugar coat would not go down with the people. Many of his arguments were peculiarly forcible and his illustrations exceedingly well chosen. We shall take an occasion hereafter to present some of them. So successful was the argument that, upon the conclusion of his speech a considerable number of Democrats as well as Republicans, went forward and complimented him upon the ability, clearness and force with which he had treated the various matters under discussion. We think that Mr Johnson's positions are generally unassailable, and that his speeches will be instrumental in convincing many honestly disposed Democrats that they cannot without dishonor vote for Grover, Slater & Co. He is going through Eastern Oregon and we commend the people to turn out generally and hear him.

FRIDAY MORNING, MAY [illegible] 1870

CITY

Building [illegible]—A few [illegible] following useful hints which we [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible]

The D[illegible] at Milwaukie.—Having heard so much about the oratorical powers of Mr Robert E Bybee, [illegible] canvass [illegible] he has used up his opponent, Hon A [illegible] concluded yesterday [illegible] to the debate between the [illegible] went. We heard [illegible] We are satisfied [illegible] reports as to Mr Bybee [illegible] We expected to learn [illegible] are all for buncombe. [illegible] from Mr Bybee, and were prepared to give him credit for his efforts if he came anything within the range of our expectations, but we regret to say he [illegible] no grounds for any comments in his behalf. His speech consisted of a few general statements without any pretense to argument, which were interspersed with personalities and abuse [illegible] opponent. Mr Gibbs made a very plain, candid, honest address, and he was greeted with rounds of applause from the audience, which was composed of upright citizens who had met together expecting to hear a discussion of the topics of the day, but were disappointed, as we were, by what is indicated above. Three or four gentlemen from Portland were in attendance and they perhaps feel as we do, that it would be well for men of all parties to turn out and listen to the discussion by Messrs Gibbs and Bybee on Saturday evening in this city. By all means go and hear them.

Mislaid.—It will be remembered that when the Republican State Convention was in session Dr Hawthorne extended an invitation to the delegates to visit his asylum and hospital at East Portland. Subsequent to the adjournment quite a number of the delegates, accepting the invitation, went over and visited the buildings and grounds. They were much pleased with the perfect order and the suitable arrangement of everything there. Before separating they effected an impromptu organization and adopted some resolutions complimentary to Dr Hawthorne. These were brought into our office for publication at the request of the delegates, but were in some inexplicable manner mislaid. Our attention has just been called by one of the delegates who participated in the matter, to the omission to publish, and we mention the matter now to say that we intended to publish the resolutions and should have done so but for the accidental mislaying of them.

Republican Club Room.—The committee having in charge the fitting up of a Club Room for the Republican party of this city and county during the campaign have most assuredly done their work well. We were shown through the establishment last evening by Mr J R Thomas and could not discover that anything was wanting to render the rooms attractive, or comfortable. The first floor is 80 feet long by 25 feet wide—Harker's store—and has accommodations for 350 people, all to be seated in chairs. At the rear end of this room a speaker's stand has been erected upon a platform which will seat 25 or 30 persons. The second floor is devoted to a reading room, and if need be people can sit up there and listen to a speaker below, as a large opening in the floor connects the two rooms. The whole premises will be lighted with gas. A large banner will be suspended across the street. The balcony will be used by the 23d Infantry Band every evening.

New Telegraph Line.—Dr O P S Plummer, who is now in full charge of the telegraph line between this city and Marysville, dropped in upon us suddenly last evening, looking hale and hearty we are glad to say. He has lately passed along the route of the entire line and it is in better condition than it has ever been before. This accounts for the fact that we have not been bothered for days at a time waiting for dispatches for along while back. He proposes many new improvements on the line the present season. There will perhaps be an entirely new line put up between this city and Aurora. The wire will cross the Wallamet at this city on masts perhaps, and other changes will be made.

Funeral of Mr Jesse Walling.—Mr Jesse Walling, who was killed by a runaway horse on Monday last, was buried with Masonic service at Lincoln on Wednesday, Amity Lodge No 20 having charge of the remains. Delegations from Salem, Dallas, McMinnville and Lafayette were in attendance. Mr Walling left very many friends who deeply sympathize with his family in their trouble. The family will remain at Lincoln. His eldest son, a young man who has attained his majority and is fully competent to carry on the business of his father, but the place filled by Mr Walling in his neighborhood and in the development of the resources of Polk county will not be easily filled.

For San Francisco.—The steamer California, Capt Dillon, left her wharf in this city at 6 o'clock last evening for San Francisco with passengers as follows: Capt M Erskine, Miss Mary Burns, Mrs Couch, J Lewis, [illegible] Flanders, wife and three children, [illegible] and family, Mrs A Rohr and two children, J McM[illegible], A Bert Law, J S Stee[illegible], M[illegible] Lake, Maj S A Porter, Col E H [illegible], C Snook, [illegible] Mrs Cook, Mrs Lost, A Balan and wife, Mrs P James and three children, Mrs [illegible] and [illegible] West, [illegible] messenger, and six in the steerage.

Anniversary Ball.—The first annual ball of Multnomah Tribe [illegible] was given at Armory Hall last night [illegible] attendance was [illegible] festivities [illegible] Order has but recently been organized here yet it is in a flourishing [illegible] We have [illegible] of being present at the [illegible] 13th 1870 but [illegible] several such [illegible] Red Men [illegible]

[illegible]

Thanks.—[illegible] return [illegible] for the kindness he has [illegible] the use of the cars [illegible] as well as for [illegible] necessary refreshments [illegible] for the enjoyment [illegible] be remembered by each and every one of them.

[illegible]—[illegible] the United States Department Surveys yesterday sent to Fort [illegible] detachment [illegible] under Mr John Meldrum to carry on the survey commenced in that region [illegible]

FRIDAY MORNING MAY 13, 1870

CITY.

BUY A HOME.—An exchange contains the following useful hints which we wish to make as strong as we would all application of in this region We would advise every laboring man be he white or black to buy himself a town lot or a little farm while property in the city and country is comparatively cheap, and when it is paid for hon w k t make the necessary improvements such as a little house, fencing etc A little here and a little there will in due time produce y u a h me of your own and place you out of the future grasp of landlords. Did any of you ever stop to think that fifty dollars saved in rent will in a few years pay for your homes and the money it costs you to move and shift about from place to place, to say nothing about the loss of furniture, &c., that it would in a short time pay the interest on a five hundred dollar mortgage against your property and give you something each year towards paying off the principle In his way you can gradually take off any incumbrance you may be compelled to put upon your home and the way that you can all buy homes is this way that is by paying a little down and giving a mortgage for the balance of the purchase money It is better for you to risk it in this way for if you fail in finally paying off the debt you make f r the purchase, you are none the worse off than you would be, as a common tenant paying to your landlords each year all you make but if you succeed in paying the purchase money, as any careful, prudent man is sure to do you have made a home and established a basis equal to many an other, which will start you in business There fore we say, buy you a little home and become independent

THE DISCUSSION AT MILWAUKIE.—Having heard so much about the oratorical powers of Mr Robert R. Bybee in this canvass about how badly he used up his opponent Hon A C Gibbs we concluded yesterday to go to Milwaukie and listen to the debate between these two gentlemen. We went—We heard. We are satisfied— all is rebunkum—Mr Bybee "using up" his opponent is all for buncomb. We expected to learn something new from Mr. Bybee and went prepared to give him credit for his efforts, if he came any thing within the range of our expectations but we regret to say that he left us no grounds for any in his behalf His speech consisted of general statements, without any pretense of [illegible], which were interspersed with personal and abusiveness of his opponent Mr Gibbs made a very plain candid, honest address and was greeted with rounds of applause from the audience, which was composed of upright [illegible] men who had met together expecting to hear a discussion of the topics of the day, but were disappointed, as we were, by what is indicated above These four gentlemen from Portland were in [illegible] and they perhaps feel as we do that it is well for men of all parties to turn out and listen to the discussion by Messrs Gibbs and Bybee on Saturday evening in this city By all means go and hear them

[illegible]—It will be remembered that when the [illegible] State Convention was in session Dr Hawthorne extended an invitation to the delegates to visit his asylum and hospital at East Portland. Subsequent to the adjournment quite a number of the delegates accepting the invitation and visited the buildings and grounds. They were so much pleased with the [illegible] and the suitable arrangement of everything that, before separating they effected an organization and adopted some [illegible] complimentary to Dr Hawthorne They were brought into our office for publication [illegible] of the delegates, but were in some way mislaid Our attention has been called by one of the delegates who participated, to the matter, to the omission to publish, and we [illegible] the matter now to say that [illegible] with the resolutions and should [illegible] for the accidental mislaying of [illegible]

CLUB ROOM.—The committee having charge of the fitting up of a Club Room for the [illegible] party of this city and county during the campaign have most assuredly done their work well. We were shown through the establishment last evening by Mr. J R. Thomas and we noticed that anything was wanting to make it attractive, or comfortable The room is 50 feet long by 25 feet wide—Has [illegible] accommodations for 350 people [illegible] At the rear end of the room a speaker's stand has been erected upon [illegible] which will seat 25 or 30 persons The [illegible] is devoted to a reading room, and if [illegible] people can sit up there and listen to a [illegible] below, as a large opening in the floor connects the two. The whole premises will be lighted with gas. A large banner will be suspended [illegible] The balcony will be used by the [illegible] Glee Band every evening

[illegible] LINE.—Dr O P S Plum [illegible] who is now in full charge of the telegraph line between this city and Marysville, dropped in upon us [illegible] last evening, looking hale and hearty we are glad to say He has lately passed over the entire line, and it is in better condition than it has ever been before This accounts for the fact that we have not been bothered [illegible] waiting for dispatches for [illegible] He proposes many new improvements on the line the present season There will probably be an entirely new line put up between this city and Aurora. The wire will cross [illegible] of this city on masts, perhaps and [illegible] will be made

FUNERAL OF MAJ JESSE WALLING.—Mr Jesse Walling, who was killed by a runaway horse on Sunday last, was buried with Masonic service at Lincoln on [illegible] day, Amity Lodge No 20 having charge of the remains Delegates from [illegible] Dallas, McMinnville and Lafayette were [illegible] Mr. Walling left very many friends who deeply sympathize with his family in their trouble. The family will remain at Lincoln His eldest son is a young man who has attained his majority, and is fully competent to carry on the [illegible] of his father but the place filled by Mr. Walling in his neighborhood and in the de[illegible] of the [illegible] of Polk county will not be easily filled.

FOR SAN FRANCISCO.—The steamer California, Capt. Bolles, left her wharf in this city at 5 o'clock last evening, for San Francisco, with passengers as follows: Capt M Erskine Miss Mary [illegible], Mrs Couch, J Lewis, G H Flanders wife [illegible] children, T Gross and family Mrs A [illegible] and two children, J McMillen Albert Law, [illegible] Mrs McLane, Judge Lake Miss Lake Maj S A Foster, Col E H Luddington, C Snook F Nichols, F E Glover, Mrs Cook, Mrs Post, A [illegible] and wife, Mrs P James and three children Mrs Foster, child and servant M Salsbury Col [illegible] (Wells Fargo & Co's messenger) and six in the steerage

ANNUAL BALL.—The first annual ball of Multnomah Tribe, No 3, I O R M was given at Armory Hall last night. The number in attendance was not so large but that all could enjoy the [illegible] without discomfiting themselves This Order has but recently been organized here yet it is in a flourishing condition We have no hope of being present at their Centennial Party May [illegible], but should we live we hope to attend several such parties as that last evening by the Red Men, in Friendship, Faith and Charity

ADVERTISING OREGON.—It has been a question with us whether Oregon advertised George Francis Train or George Francis advertised Oregon We incline to the belief, however that he never sacrificed any considerable amount of his gas for this State after he crossed the line into California [illegible] it stated that in July he will take his two boys round the world via the Pacific and Indian oceans, in a grand holiday tour of ninety days probably bringing up as usual in a British bastile

A NEW MILL.—The Oregon and California Railroad Company have purchased a tract of [illegible] acres of land near Milwaukie on the line of the railroad, and will soon erect upon it a large steam saw mill for the purpose of reducing the forests about there to timber and lumber for the construction of the railroad bridges buildings etc They have also purchased the timber standing in the vicinity there, to the amount of about thirty million feet of lumber when cut

THANKS.—The pupils of St Mary's Academy return their most sincere thanks to Mr Holladay for the kindness he manifested in proffering them the use of the cars for their May Day excursion as well as for his liberality displayed in preparing [illegible] refreshments and devoting a whole day for their enjoyment. This generous act will long [illegible] by each and every one of them

INDIAN SURVEYS.—Hon. D P Thompson of the United States Department Surveys yesterday sent to Fort Lapwai another detachment of men under Mr. John [illegible], to carry on the survey [illegible] in that region this spring

A PRETTY SIGHT.—The Sisters of Charity with their scholars to the number of two hundred or more embarked on the railroad train for an excursion over the road yesterday The excursion proceeded to the end of the track and returned in the afternoon and all who participated in it report that they enjoyed the trip very greatly The appearance of the school as they embarked and returned was a very pretty sight all marching in perfect order

[illegible] Mr Harris [illegible] celebrated [illegible] was reported in San Francisco with great [illegible] on his arrival there from the Atlantic States The [illegible] in Oregon are daily hourly expecting an answer from him as whether he will accept the invitation extended to him to come here Should he come he may depend upon being welcomed in a manner creditable to the organization in this remote corner of the great West

GRAND LODGE.—We have private letters from various parts of the State which inform us that the approaching Grand Lodge I O O F will be very largely attended The fraternity seem to evince a desire to have Grand Patriarch Fa new rth visit th s jurisdiction during the season He has been in attendance at the Grand Lodge of California and the telegraph dispatches indicate that very much good has resulted from his presence there

Letter from Senator Brownlow

THE SITUATION IN TENNESSEE—GEN THOMAS

[From the Knoxville (Tenn.) Chronicle]

U S SENATE CHAMBER,
WASHINGTON D C April 11, 1870

Hon I [illegible] Esq I have received the first number of your new paper the Knoxville Chronicle and I have examined it with care It is quite a readable weekly and I would like to see it in every Republican family in the State The type and paper are good the selections are judicious and the mechanical part of it well executed In closed I send you the names of three subscribers and will hand you the money when I see you

Having now spoken of the good qualities of your newspaper I must say a word of its bad qualities It is too mild in its tone, and altogether too conciliatory considering the party with which you have to deal, and how violent and hostile toward the loyal people that party is We have Gov Senter with us, and, as I am told he has been before the Reconstruction Committee of the House His testimony is said to have been strong against the Ku Klux party, and altogether satisfactory to the Republicans I expect the Committee of the House to report a bill looking to the reconstruction of Tennessee We propose to wipe out the Legislature and the late Convention, and order an election of a new Legislature under the old law, and with a new registration leaving the Executive and Judiciary undisturbed The bill will meet with opposition in the House from the Democracy and the tender footed Republicans but will, nevertheless, pass In the Senate we will have less trouble, as we are divided politically sixty Republicans to ten Democrats They will of course go on to elect judges in Tennessee What Gov Senter will feel it his duty to do, I am unable to say; but if I were Governor I think I would refuse to commission their judges and other officers That party have made a great noise over the increase of the State debt by the issue of bonds to pay the five years interest they had repudiated by rebellion and bonds issued under my administration to put our railroads in order They call it the Brownlow despotism extravagance and swindling They promised to wipe out Radicalism and renew an era of prosperity What have they done? Are they building up the towns and waste places? Is real estate and rents advancing or falling off? Let the mechanics and day laborers of Knoxville answer the question

The fifth month of the present session is passing off rapidly and I am pleased to be able to inform you that I am the only man in the Senate who has never been absent a day I make no speeches but the ayes and noes show me to be always right voting for extreme Radical measures If I had not lost my voice it is likely that I would be talking too though we have quite too much talking in both houses

The death of Gen Thomas has cast quite a gloom over the whole country The country seems now to appreciate him Why not? I hold that he was the greatest man of the war, and the only General of whom it can be in truth said he never lost a battle nor made a mistake I have extended this letter beyond what I had intended, and therefore hasten to a close

W G BROWNLOW

Dr Newman, one of the most distinguished accessions to the Church of Rome which has been made during the present century has written a letter to a Catholic prelate on the Pope's course in relation to the dogma of infallibility We need scarcely remind most of our readers that Dr Newman was perhaps the ablest of all the men in the Episcopal Church of England and that his loss is deeply lamented by members of that church to the present hour A considerable number of young men who had been his pupils at Oxford followed him into the Romish communion. The words of such a man must needs have weight with all Catholics The Ecumenical Council he declares excites little else than fear and dismay Practically all true Catholics hold the Pope to be infallible but to define the infallibility is to do the Church a great injury "Think," writes Dr Newman, "of the store of Pontifical scandals in the history of eighteen centuries which have partly been poured forth and partly are still to come" He declares that he prays for the intercession of Augustine Ambrose and other Fathers to avert the calamity The English [illegible] were hovering on the outskirts of Rome and now they are to be driven back It will be seen from this brief summary that Dr Newman is no less zealous than converts in general—that his advice is on this occasion not destined to produce much fruit

An Old Fallacy Exploded

Thirty or forty years ago it was the fashion to administer powerful purgatives as spring medicines Terrific doses of salts and senna, calomel and jalap or glauber salts were given to all the members of a family whether sick or well by way of preparing them for the warm weather in prospect This pernicious custom is nearly obsolete but there are some old Bourbons of private life incapable alike of forgetting anything or learning anything who obstinately cling to it still Nothing could be so pernicious, more utterly unphilosophical, than such an onslaught on the vigor and elasticity of the system In order to enable the physical structure to resist the enervating effects of spring damps and summer heats, it should be toned and reinforced not relaxed and weakened The best medicine agent for that purpose is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Its effect is to tone the stomach and liver gently relieve the bowels and obstructions brace the nerves improve the quality of the blood stimulate the appetite and cheer the spirits In this improved condition the organization is incapable of resisting unhealthy influences, which would prostrate an enfeebled system A vigorous digestion is absolutely essential to health and there is no danger of the stomach faltering or failing in its important office if the genial vegetable elixir is taken regularly as a stomachic None of the tonic tinctures or extracts will supply the place of the Bitters for the simple reason that they operate as astringents only In fact in ordinary practice five or six prescriptions would be required to produce separately the beneficial results which are effected simultaneously and harmoniously by this single specific

A Hideous Sea Monster

A young [illegible] the city from South Carolina through Wright river in a small sail [illegible] us with a decidedly sensational account of [illegible] of the most [illegible] creatures that ever crawled under the firmament of heaven and [illegible] positively that he has not been deceived by any freak of fancy or undue excitement [illegible]. Our informant on the morning of the 28th toward noon as he tells us, was about half a mile from Wright river in an emerging [illegible] the Savannah two miles above Fort Pulaski with his negro men pulling quietly along near the shore [illegible] built craft was suddenly and without any premonitory sign lifted up as it by some [illegible] further throwing the crew out of their seats and completely scaring the life out of them. The shock was so sudden that it lasted for a second of the boat turning over, but luckily it righted again and sank back into the water which foamed like breakers. But says the hero of the adventure I did not heed the danger around me in this respect nor the groveling fear of the men with me for I could not if life was at stake have taken my eyes away from the hideous creature that had caused all the commotion and was making its way lazily out of the river into the long rushes on the bank. Never before had I anticipated such a monstrosity nor do I ever wish to see another. A creature almost indescribable though its general appearance is fixed in my mind's eye too indelibly for pleasant afterthought. The beast fish or reptile whatever species of God's creation it might be classed under, was a tawny greenish color growing more definite toward the head. The body of the creature was seal shaped apparently twenty feet long, and as thick as the carcass of the largest sized elephant. From this trunk sprung forth the most remarkable feature of the phenomenon a long curved, swan like neck large enough apparently, to have taken a man in whole terminated by a head and jaws similar to that of a immense boa constrictor the eyes fishy yet possessing ferocity enough in their expression to make a man tremble. The back of the beast was deeply ridged running from the base of the neck to the extreme end of the tail and several inches deep. An immense tail shaped something like an alligator's and three times longer so it seemed than the body, completed the tout ensemble of this wonderful anomaly. The creature navigated by feet resembling the fore feet of an alligator, and its progress on land was slow. With all this combination of the terrible before me says our friend, it was not strange that I trembled but before the frightened men had time to act or I time to advise the cause of our terror drew itself across the little island, out of sight into the water beyond. It did not take us long to recover our senses and as quickly leave the scene though the shock to our nerves, and indeed, to our belief in things possible and impossible, precluding anything like hard work."

The above statement we have from the lips of the gentleman himself and being duly vouched for, we have every reason to believe in its truth —Savannah Republican March [illegible]

TRICHINA—IT KILLS FOUR PERSONS IN KENTUCKY —The Louisville Courier, April 18th says

Four persons were killed by eating meat in which there were trichinæ in Ballard county last week. The stomach of one of them has been sent to this city for examination. The facts of the case are about as follows. The victims were a German family by the name of Heydaker. It seems a ham was purchased, of which Mr and Mrs Heydaker ate considerable quantities in a raw state. Soon after Heydaker was taken sick and Dr J S Sea was called in. The doctor did not at first discover anything alarming about the symptoms, but the patient grew worse, until Wednesday evening when he died. In the mean time Mrs Heydaker became ill with similar symptoms. Drs. Jewett and Smith were called in for consultation, but none of them were familiar with the symptoms, nor could afford relief. On Friday Mrs. Heydaker died, and on Saturday the two little children who had eaten of the pork died a similar death to that which had taken away the father and mother. Thus four persons in all were poisoned by the one fatal meal. The two children —a girl and boy—were aged respectively about seven and two years old. One little girl, of an intermediate age—probably about five years old—who did not eat the meat had not been taken sick at last accounts. From all the circumstances attending the deaths the physicians are of the opinion that they were occasioned by trichinæ. The pork which it is supposed contained the trichinæ was raised in Ballard county and cured in the usual manner.

CATCHING COLD —Dr Symes Thompson lately lectured at Gresham College, England upon the subject of "catching cold." He explained by means of drawings the effect produced on the system by an attack of catarrh. The minute vessels of the nose, throat and chest become surcharged with blood and if this congestion be not relieved, inflammation ensues, and ultimately derangement of structure. For prevention of colds there is nothing like a cold bath every morning. It trains the vessels of the skin to rise vigorously into renewed action after the application of a chill. Hot rooms should be avoided the skin protected with warm clothing and when the temperature of the air is between thirty and forty degrees Fahrenheit (which is condition of the atmosphere most likely to produce catarrh,) a generous but careful diet should be adopted. For cure the Turkish bath or an ordinary vapor bath is most efficacious, but the action of the bath should be supplemented by the administration of meat stimulants. A cupful of beef tea administered on the very day when he delivered his lecture, had in ten minutes diffused a steady warmth through the system of a patient who had been brought to the Brompton Hospital cold pulseless and apparently on the brink of the grave. Dr Thompson concluded by warning his hearers that colds unlike eruptive fevers the more frequently they occur the more frequently they may be expected.

AN ASTOUNDING DISCOVERY IN CHEMISTRY — Theophile Ladislas Zohweskofski, one of the cleverest pupils of Baron Liebig, has made an astonishing discovery in chemistry, viz

The silicious and aluminous ethers. It is but necessary to pour into a champagne glass a certain quantity of these two ethers to produce almost instantaneously the most magnificent stones, combined with very pure oxide of iron the aluminous ether produces rubys, with sulphate of copper, the sapphire with salts of manganese the amethyst, with salts of nickel, the emerald, with salts of chrome, the silicious ether produces the different colorations of the topaz. These ethers evaporate with a penetrative perfume which several persons have declared to be very agreeable. The salts crystallize very regularly as soon as the liquid part has gone. The corundons obtained through this means are not quite as hard as the natural ones but, if the operation is carefully done the brilliancy is admirable. The silica and the alumina which constitute the earths and clays are principle easily found in the different parts of the globe and the preparation of the new ethers though delicate costs very little. This discovery will bring forth a revolution not only in the jewelry but in most of our industrial arts.

The Colusa (Cal) Sun, of a recent date has the following

"It is a fact no less strange than true that the spontaneous growth of vegetable matter in the Sacramento Valley changes almost every season. Some seasons dog fennel fox tail thistles and other worthless weeds cover the country and for a few years back had led people to suppose they had taken the country. This season however the country is covered with clover and other valuable grasses, to the exclusion of the others. Who can account for this?"

The last shot in the Chicago and St Louis war has been fired by the Chicago Evening Post and here it is

THEODORE TILTON'S FIRST NEWSPAPER ATTEMPT —A writer in the weekly newspaper press of New York written a short time ago for an Eastern daily contains the following

Theodore Tilton began his journalistic career as a short hand reporter for the Tribune. He is fond of relating his first attempt at newspaper work which was in 1858 when he was quite a boy. He had been studying phrenology under the direction of Oliver Dyer and [illegible] Otterson then city editor of the Tribune to ask his acceptance of a report [illegible] meeting. Otterson had [illegible] though [illegible] at heart and without looking at it [illegible] work to [illegible] who had spoken to him I guess we don't want it. Tilton turned away with a deep sigh of disappointment which caught Otterson's ear. He looked up and at a glance saw the state of the case. His sympathies were naturally moved, and he called Tilton back asked some questions about his history and finding on a more careful examination that his report was a good one he accepted and printed it. That incident decided Tilton's future for he always declared that had he been allowed to go away entirely he should never have dared to make a second application. He became attached to the Tribune and regularly reported Beecher's sermons. This brought him in contact with the latter and led to his joining the Independent where his indefatigable energy made him a valuable assistant. When Beecher resigned the editorship, Tilton naturally became his successor and his competency is proved by the fact that he has so thoroughly identified himself with the paper that it is hard separate one from the other.

A SINGULAR MISTAKE A religious editor an Albanian at that called, some time ago at the studio of Palmer, the sculptor in New York with the following result as given in an Eastern paper

The artist had just finished a charming bust of the Infant Ceres. The marble told its own story for the symbolic corn and poppies had been used to that end. The editor knowing little of symbols and less of mythology asked the name of subject, and was told "The Infant Ceres." Imagine the artist's consternation on reading a few days after the interview in the art column of the religious weekly that he was engaged upon a series of infants, the first of which he had just completed.

WHERE HE KEPT HIS SECURITIES —The Oakland Transcript tells the subjoined story

One of the useless scamps of our town asked a rich friend yesterday to lend him some money. "Call at my office," says Moneybags. The young man called when he was interrogated with "What security can you give?" "My own personal security" replied the indigent. "Very well get in here" says the broker, lifting up the cover of a large iron chest. "Get in here!" exclaimed the astonished spendthrift "what for?" "Why this is the place where I keep my securities and if you want the money you must comply." The money was not loaned.

Hon S B Axtell announces that the appointment of a cadet to the Naval Academy will be given to the boy who shall excel in an examination to be conducted by Gov Haight Chief Justice Rhodes, and Rev O P Fitzgerald Superintendent of Public Instruction. The examination to take place in May. Boys in the First Congressional District, will have a chance to display their attainments.

John Brown's gun—that with which he defended himself at Harper's Ferry—is offered for sale by J. L. Adams, New York city. It was captured by Geo W Randolph a grandson of Thomas Jefferson who was Marshal of the day at Charleston when John Brown was hung and who was afterwards Confederate Secretary of War.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE

PORTLAND May 12 1870

New York gold quotation last evening 114⅞. No dispatches to day.

Legal tenders are steady at 8[illegible]c

The money market is reasonably well supplied, good names finding no difficulty in borrowing all the money wanted. At the banks the rate of interest is 1 per cent. on 30 and 90 day loans outside rates 1½@2 per cent.

We hear less complaint of late concerning the delinquencies of interior debtors and we are led to conclude that the greater part of all sums owing by country merchants in the early part of the year have been paid or arranged in a satisfactory manner, so that trade is measurably relieved from the incubus of long standing credits.

During the week ending to-day, business has upon the whole been rather quiet, though there is at the close a manifest improvement in all departments. AGRICULTURAL GOODS—We note some movement in this class of merchandise; more than at any time heretofore this season. During the week there have been several shipments of Mowers and Reapers up the Columbia river and for points in the Wallamet valley also several Threshers, both Sweepstakes and Challengers for the valley. Prices are firm, stocks not large. HARDWARE—There has been a brisk demand during the week, in to large shipments being made to Eugene Springfield and other points near the head of the valley. The first Government shipment of Hardware was made yesterday to Ft Lapwai. Some Idaho buyers were also supplied during the week, with very fair orders. Prices are firm for all goods in this line. We quote an advance in nails. DRY GOODS—During the first part of the week trade was extremely dull as it had been for the week previous but for the last two or three days, a number of buyers from Eastern Oregon and a few from Idaho have given business a much improved aspect. We quote all goods as heretofore. GROCERIES—There has been a good business during the entire week sales being distributed pretty equally among the various sections of the interior. Liverpool and Carmen Island Salt is lower in price. Other goods unchanged.

In the Produce Market, there are evident signs of better prices. The drought prevailing in California has given rise to some fears of a short crop in that State of all grains and the wheat and flour market has therefore [illegible] worked into a state [illegible]. Flour has been advanced 50 cts per bbl and wheat correspondingly. The effect upon our market has been to advance quotations for flour 50c per bbl. Wheat—we quote good white [illegible]@80c per bushel—an advance of [illegible] which is an advance of 10 cts. Bacon—sales in large supply and dull at 14c; hams are quotable at 14c. We heard of a sale yesterday of one lot of sides at 13c. Lard—in bulk 14@14½c—an advance.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET NEAR COMMERCIAL

San Francisco. Established in 1854 for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea Gleet Stricture Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences or from virus absorbed into the system. Look at their pallid emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness

Seminal Emissions the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms unless combatted by scientific medical measures viz Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes pain in the head ringing in the ears noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins weakness of the limbs confused vision blunted intellect loss of confidence diffidence in approaching strangers a dislike to form new acquaintances a disposition to shun society loss of memory hectic flushes pimples and various eruptions about the face furred tongue fetid breath coughs consumption night sweats monomania and frequently insanity. If relief be not obtained should apply immediately either in person or by letter and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay obtain immediate relief

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible and will give to each patient a written instrument binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure or make no charge

CURED AT HOME

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr Gibbon stating case symptoms length of time the disease has continued and have medicines promptly forwarded free from damage and curiosity to any part of the country with full and plain directions for use for Ten Dollars sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who with bogus certificates dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen and became too lazy to work at their trade. Some are tinsmiths shoemakers newspaper carriers intelligence office keepers etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory and you will not find their Medical Institutes [illegible] but you will find the [illegible] occupations [illegible]. Look at the Directory for 1867 and 1868. They [illegible] and [illegible] until make enquiry—it will cost you nothing and may save you [illegible]. [illegible] physicians [illegible] they are bogus there is no safety [illegible] until you know who and what they are. Dr G[illegible] does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles certificates pretended patient's letters etc. [illegible] who may call at his office [illegible] of [illegible] his proper cure
